The AFMC Standing Committee on Undergraduate Medical Education

Report to the AFMC Board of Directors

May 2011

The AFMC Standing Committee on Undergraduate Medical education met twice since our last report. The primary work of the committee has been as follows:

- 1) The creation of a subcommittee lead by Dr. Ken Stobart (University of Alberta) that has supported the implementation of an AFMC led initiative to create a national electives portal for both Canadian medical students and international medical students. At this stage a business case is being developed and information is being gathered around the feasibility of such a project. It is the Associate Deans fervent wish that such a portal become possible as each school wishes its students, in as seamless a manner as possible, to be exposed to educational opportunities across Canada.
- 2) Work with the Post Graduate Deans to create a process that allows postgraduate deans/programs to know about graduating medical students who require some kind of support or monitoring to ease the transition from medical school to residency.

Respectfully submitted,

Bruce Wright
